

FEELINGS THAT MUST BE SATISFIED

Everybody needs a dose of love and compassion; everyone needs to feel wanted by others and desires to help; everybody needs hope and the occasional achievement.

Some of these feelings are moral and the others are related to moral feelings.

Some of these feelings can be satisfied by relatives or friends, others only by whole communities, civic groups, or religious groups. The satisfaction can be objective or only illusory; in the latter case it works just as well as real satisfaction.
